About This Game

Dragons, witches, trolls... No one can stop Anna. With her telekinesis, unorthodox use of torture instruments, a knack for improvisation and the help of a shady fox she just makes her way. She communes with the dead, shuts off the local taverns beer supply and gets old ladies behind bars...

The world of author Dane Krams' debut on the game development stage isn't as cuddly as it may seem. Anna however, is actually perfectly nice - or is she? It all starts with freeing talking teddy bear...

Anna's Quest* unfolds a hand-drawn, grim tale with a good dash of self-irony.

Honestly I didn't really follow the initial outrage when this game dropped. Rarely do I get to play games when they launch mostly because of my schedule. I usually play games 1-2 years after they release with the rare exception of a game that I've been looking forward to. There are too many games and not enough time to play them all. I picked No Man's Sky up on sale and didn't really know too much about it. It just looked cool so I got it and have put about 4 hours in. The learning curve is kind of steep and I was expecting more story and hand holding instead of getting dropped in the middle of nowhere with a hit to fix and resources to gather right from the get go. I was kind of frustrated for the first hour but once I started figuring everything out it all clicked and I enjoyed it so much I kept playing for a few more hours. I've been pretty amazed by the whole thing so far. I understand people were bitter because they got their expectations over inflated because of the pre-release hype. I went into this with zero expectations and feel like it is a really fun game. The graphics are really good. I've only explored one planet and a moon so far. I can see easily dumping many hours into this game before it gets too repetitive. If I grow sick of it and feel like I've seen everything after dumping 50+ hours into the game I'll feel like I got my money's worth. All I can say is if you haven't played it and like grinding and exploring then check it out. I didn't have crazy expectations regarding plot or story. I'm sure I have yet to dig into the main storyline yet but it doesn't seem like it is even necessary to play the game. I've just been wandering around exploring and building a base on one of the moons of the planet I started on. I have never played any games with seamless space travel before. Maybe I'm easily amused but flying up out of the atmosphere of a planet for the first time was cool as hell. Just the space travel aspect of all of it is cool as hell to me.. Just another Viki Spotter game.. 20 minutes and end.

Just next achievements generator.

Nothing more.. Since I beat Serious Sam: The First Encounter, I skipped ahead to this game in VR. One of the best VR games to get but still has some flaws.

My biggest complaint is that all weapons are dual and have no specific firing rate. You can shoot 50 sniper rounds in just seconds. The last boss took like 5 seconds because I just unloaded an entire sniper rifle in his face.

The room before the final boss though was crazy.. I love it. It's so fun!. [Skip to bottom for TL;dr]

How I found this game and came to love it: I was a kid, mom on her windows XP Laptop, I walked over and sat down on the couch with her and saw her playing the very first Bejeweled. I asked her if I could try it, after a few minutes of playing it, I loved it.

Fastforward a couple days later, we get the disk out that she used to install it on her computer and install it on the PC.

I played the game for quite a few hours on end and got high levels, then I sort of forgot about it from then, until today that is. Just today as I write this review, I found the "Bejeweled deluxe" PC disc, and also found out that this game is on steam, after installing deluxe on my windows 8.1 laptop, I also bought this game.

[TL;dr]

This was one of my childhood games, and I love games like this, what are you waiting for? BUY IT!. Interesting concept. I have been thinking why there aren't more undersea games for a long time. This game is just too difficult. Too much reliance in twitchy pointlessness and too many enemies with too little ship. It wasn't even worth the $1.00 I paid for it. There is a cheat for this impossible game, but it too proved t be too difficult to figure out as well which seems appropriate somehow.... 7 words: what the \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 and why the \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665. A cute little mobile port. Would be fun to waste some time while on the can, but lacks any depth or any reason to keep playing. Would reccomend for mobile, do NOT reccomend for steam.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=o8ryoFit2ew>. First and foremost I strongly disagree with the metascare, strongly. If I were to describe this game in just one word I'd without a doubt FUNNY. Despite having less tracks than I'd want it is a blast to play with friends, and it's not expensive. I really like how the powerup system was made and it never gets boring to explode other cars. If you like this kind of racing games give it a shot!

*If you intend to play it online alone I have to say that you'll have a hard time finding people playing except during sales. If you have 2 friends grab a 3-Pack and enjoy!

good vertical shooter, but... conquered in 1 hour? hahahaha would be better if i could use the mouse and or customizable keys. got it for 50 cents. can recommend for that price.. Good so far, much better with a flight stick. A menu system that can be used while flying. Runs well. Id buy now at $5 tho.

. Very short demo\promo but well worth the time downloading and playing.

The puzzles are well done and reasonably logical with the tools you have available to you. The horror is the context and theme rather than out and out gore or jump scares. You actually got a reasonable amount of feedback to know if you were going right or wrong where some puzzle games give you nothing until you find the solution.

Some of the controls need a bit more finesse, the final one in particular was hard to control.

Well done devs, more please.. ICE COOL FREEZE. Beautiful visual novel with an amazing story.

The soundtrack is marvellous & worth the money, buy it if you want to support the developers.. This game is quite possibly the most fun ive had since the war, times have changed.. This is such a fun time killer. I keep hoping that I have the fastest run on each level every time ... but I do not. Definitely worth the cost of admission.
